Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen officials with which the switchmen are affiliated, declared that Gruneau's organization, the Chicago yardmen's association, is an "outlaw" union and has no authority to speak for brotherhood members.

A. T. Whitney, vice president of the brotherhood, is cooperating with officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul in an effort to break the "Hogans" strike called by Gruneau.

Political Excitement Prevails When Statesman Kills Editor.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Montevideo, Uruguay, April 3.—Political excitement prevails in this city tonight as a result of the death of Washington Beltrán, editor of the El País, in a duel with former president José Batlle y Ordóñez, this morning.

After the last elections in Uruguay the nationalists accused the "Batllistas" of the party headed by the former president, of frauds. This organization is a section of the party which is at present in political control here and Beltrán was reported in an editorial discussing the elections, called Batlle the "champion of fraud."

It was this utterance that led to the fatal duel.

The opponents met on a football field in the midst of a pouring rainstorm.

There is a law against dueling in Uruguay, but it is understood that the men was that neither would prosecute the other in case of injury. Duels are infrequent in this country.

Batlle, who was twice president of Uruguay and now is a member of the national administrative council, voluntarily gave himself up to the police following order by his state prosecutor for his arrest as well as that of the doctors, seconds and other persons connected with the duel, which was held in a police station and will be interrogated Saturday.

The chamber of deputies at a special session today unanimously adopted a resolution according to an annual pension of $3,000 to Beltrán's widow. The chamber also sent a message of sympathy to the widow. Beltrán's family has requested that the body lie in state in the chamber of deputies pending the funeral.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE EXPLAINS HIS STAND ON PARTISANSHIP.

URGES UNITY

Asserts He Is Too Busy With Relief Work For Personal Canvass.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, April 3.—Herbert Hoover, who has announced he is ready to accept the republican presidential nomination if it is demanded of him, issued a statement today in which he requested the people to be unburdened by party lines and to support him as a primary sense of team work in any organization would preclude any such a possibility.

No Strong Partisan.

Mr. Hoover said in his statement he had no great record of partisan activity and "admitted" that his political activity was confined to membership in a prominent republican club allegiance to the party over a period of years. He added that because of his profession of a mining engineer, continual shift of residence had prevented him from exercising as much as he desired the privilege of every citizen at the polls.

Busy With Relief Work.

Asserting that his administrative duties in various relief organizations would prevent him from making a personal canvass for the nomination, Mr. Hoover said he expected that the country would have to expend certain amounts for printing and other expenses but that he hoped Mr. Hoover would be able to secure minor subscriptions and expenditures and would be prepared to open their books to public inspection.

Mr. Hoover requested that men and women advocating his nomination "bear in mind that personal criticism of the other names before the party is chiefly of service to the opposition."

Because he had refused to allow his name to be put forward, Mr. Hoover declared that there was "little organization" on his behalf and at this late date no organization is possible for other than the party's organizations. He urged that his supporters confine their energies to "promotion of the party" and that the party's organizations, already named, will feel respect to their prior pledges.

BOMBING OF HOMES LAID TO GUNMEN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, April 3.—Police today are hunting for two men who last night partially wrecked two houses, one the home of Hugh Lynch, president of the street cleaners' union, and the other the residence of Michael Heilmann, organizer of the stockyards meat cutters.

The bombing was traced to the murder several weeks ago of Maurice Enright, gunman and labor leader.

Lynch, protégé of Enright, had been ousted as head of his union by Mike Carrozzo, one of the four now in jail for killing Enright in the labor war that followed the union strike.

Following Carrozzo's arrest, Lynch raised his rival's office, seized the union books and re-established himself as president.

The attempt to destroy his home, police believe, was the outcome.

TOLEDO WALKS AGAIN; CARMEN ON STRIKE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Picked on Good Friday.

The picketing of the embassy on Good Friday, she said, "to remind Great Britain and the state department of the crucifixion of Christ and to call attention that Ireland was being crucified."

No Sign It Is Over.

Mrs. Corliss said the leaders of the movement had no statement to make as to their plans, but that it did not necessarily follow that because the pickets did not visit the embassy today that the picketing had been ended.

At the state department it was understood that there were no developments in the situation.

Broke International Law.

It was learned today that police officials who were at the embassy yesterday to prevent any disorder arising out of the picketing, informed the women that their action was a breach of international law and consequently was quite different from that of the militant suffragists who picketed the White House two years ago.

W. S. Perrigo, chairman of the board's committee on a sanatorium, is said to have made a purchase of the land, but refused yesterday by Mr. Hemmingway to accept a check for $20,000 tendered him by the committee to pay for the land.

The bid-out by the Janesville man developed at the last session of the board when the committee refused to purchase the land. By declining to live up to an agreement to transfer the land on grounds that when he made a contract with the board at the end of the month, the document and would not do it. The committee declared that Hemmingway took this action because he was afraid to sell the land, which he believes will extend to the land in question.

Money Is Appropriated.

Plans were made by the county board at its November session to erect a $100,000 building on the land this summer, and the money appropriated to purchase the land. HARBOR REPORTS ON ARMENIANS

Wilson Gives Senate Requested Findings of Investigating Commission.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 3.—President Wilson transmitted to the senate today the report of the American commission headed by Major General Barbord, which investigated conditions in Armenia. The report had twice been asked for by the senate, first last November and then under resolution adopted several weeks ago.

Argues Mandate Question.

The commission made no recommendations as to the United States assuming a mandate over Turkey and Armenia, but its report contained extensive arguments for and against such action.

No mandate should be taken, the commission said, without formal agreement with France and Great Britain and also "definite approval" of Germany and Russia. The inhabitants, the mission stated, desire America to take the mandate first with Great Britain their second choice.

Would Tend to Avert Wars.

The principal arguments advanced in favor of the United States accepting a mandate were that the influence of the United States would tend to avert wars, that the inhabitants wanted American protection and that this would give the United States an opportunity to do a great humanitarian work.

Reasons advanced against a mandate were that it "would weaken our position relative to the Monroe doctrine," that "humanitarianism begins at home," and that the first years cost would be $275,000,000 in addition to $88,500,000 for the army and navy.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

The Ideal Five-Passenger Car

Whether the Paige Glenbrook is chosen solely because of its beauty or rather because of its mechanical excellence, a full measure of satisfaction is assured to its owner in either case.

For it is well known that, in Paige cars, beauty and efficiency go hand in hand.

The same skill in car building which is responsible for making the Glenbrook a vehicle of exceptional grace is likewise responsible for making it an exceptional car from the mechanical standpoint.

In body, power plant and chassis, it is distinctly a Paige product—setting standards of comfort, economy and dependability such as have never before been present in a car of moderate price.

Although it has been before the public no more than four months, it is destined, we believe, to revolutionize the Light Six field.

Its new six-cylinder motor—designed and built in our own shops—is a feature which, in itself, entitles the new Paige Glenbrook to a place at the head of America's finest five-passenger motor cars.

When you see this latest Paige model and ride in it, you will agree with us, we believe, that, from a mechanical as well as an artistic point of view, there is no finer five-passenger car on the market today.

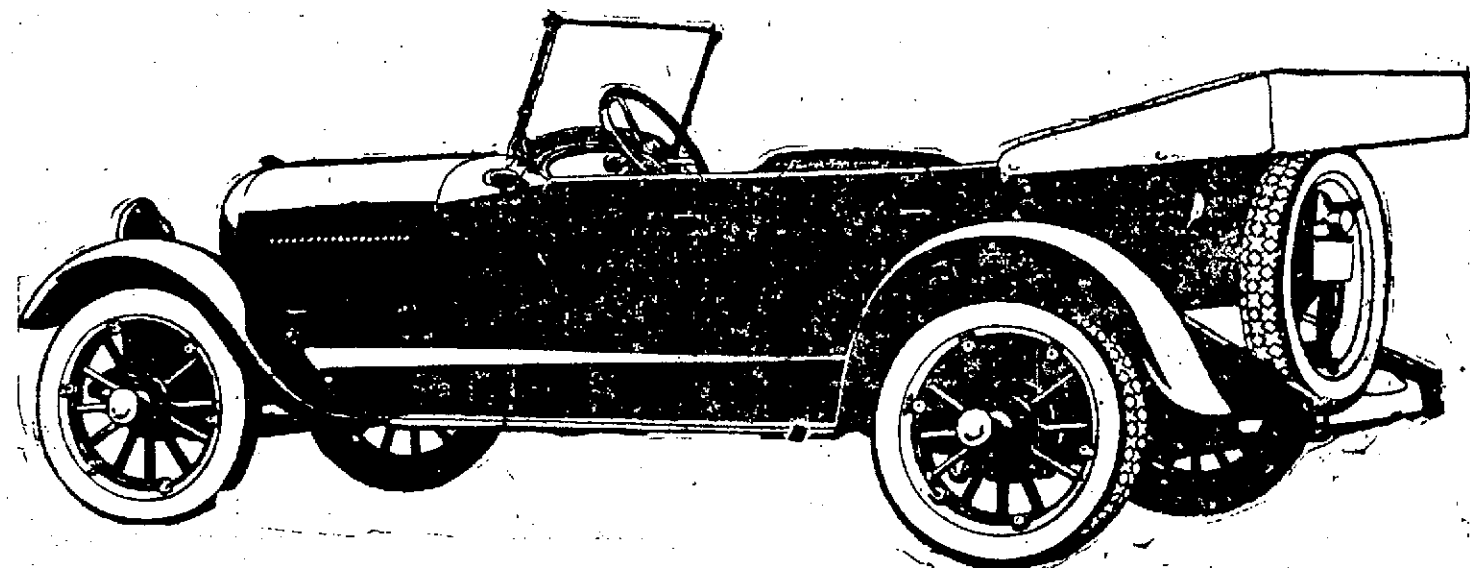

That this is now quite the general opinion among motorists is indicated by the number who have already made arrangements for Spring deliveries.

Let us suggest that you give early consideration to the question of placing your order with our dealer while it is still possible for him to take care of your requirements.

big new picture

As a genuine novelty. We have come to expect great things from Doug Fairbanks; we sometimes wonder where he can possibly get any more new ideas from. Yet he comes along with a picture like this and simply carries us off our feet. "When the Clouds Roll By" is so new and original in story and action, so far away from anything that has been attempted before, that we go on record now with the prediction that every laugh-loving, thrill-loving man, woman and child in town will be talking about Fairbanks and his picture before the week is half over.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE PASS UP DISCUSSION ON UNIONS' DEMANDS

Members of the Builders' Exchange, the organization of Janesville contractors on the allied lines, at their regular meeting last night failed to lay any great stress on the April first walkout of union men which is still a matter of discussion to members of the organization today. In fact, these informants report, the walk-out was a matter of little consideration. The forthcoming statement of the Exchange, alluded to on Wednesday by Fred D. Green, chairman of the builders' publicity committee, as possible of release today, was not given out. It was explained that for the present the organization was adverse to any statement. Union Labor hall continued to be the rendezvous of idle workmen, but all waiting for the Exchange. There were none. Carpenters, painters and masons whose employers met the demands of the union, were out-of-town men, and not members of the Builders' Exchange. According to William Ford, the Exchange secretary, and other members, no Janesville contractors have yet met the demands of the men.

SEVEN VOTE EARLY BY MAIL BALLOTS; FOUR ARE WOMEN

Evidence of great interest in Tuesday's election in Janesville was noted at the city hall today with the voting by mail of seven citizens, four of whom are women. This is believed a new record for early ballot casters. All who voted today did so because they expect to be out of the city on election day. Women's votes were cast only in the Sutherland-Hoover contest for school commissioner. Those who filed sealed ballots with City Clerk E. J. Sartell were: James Zanias, First ward; Lloyd H. Brauns, Second ward; George De Bruin, Third; Misses Hilda L. Melner and Isabelle Stover, Third; Miss Grace Padley, First; Miss Ona Andrews, Fourth. Affidavits of no campaign expenses had been filed up to noon today by several candidates. None had filed any statement showing expenses incurred. Final expense accounts are due to be filed before next Saturday.

It was stated as probable that a crew of men would be placed at work finishing the foundry, under the direction of the Du Pont company.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT
Written and publication authorized by John Arbuthnot, President of the Janesville Teachers' Federation and to be paid by said organization at the rate of 15c per line.
At a meeting of the Teachers' Federation it was unanimously voted to endorse, through its officials, the candidacy of Mr. Hooper as school commissioner-at-large. The teachers feel that Mr. Hooper is deeply interested in the schools, both as a parent and taxpayer, that he is an expert in school matters, and has devoted a large amount of time in the interest of the public schools and teachers. While his opponent is undoubtedly worthy of the position, it seems to us unfortunate at this time to lose the services of a man who is an educational authority.

EXPECT COAL BOOST; HARD $1 AND SOFT .25

March prices on coal continue to prevail in Janesville, although, according to C. B. Farnum of the Consumers' company, the predicted dollar advance may be looked for any time now. Hard coal just at present is worth $14.25 and $14.50 to the consumer. Soft coal is selling at $3.25 per ton. The dollar advance will hit only anthracite fuel. Mr. Farnum is of the opinion that soft coal will simultaneously advance 25 cents per ton.

BROKEN TRUCK HITS RAIL SERVICE

A broken freight car truck on the Milwaukee road in the yards just opposite the Northwestern depot at 10:30 o'clock last night, tied up trains on the southeastern division until early this morning. The line was opened this morning after the arrival of the crane.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How can I win a boy's love? When boys talk to me I get rather bashful. What do boys like to talk about when talking to a girl?

A LONELY HEART.
Be yourself and trust that some time the right man will find you. bashfulness or modesty is very attractive to some men. When talking to a young man think about him and not yourself and you will be less bashful. Try to decide what kind of things interest him. Some boys like to talk about sports—baseball, skating, tennis, basketball; others prefer books and theaters, and some enjoy the woods with its flowers and birds. If you read widely you will find it much easier to find topics of conversation.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am, and again I am not, in love. I have one of the best boy friends in the world and I know he really loves me. He does not go with other girls and he is loyal and true to me. I have never caught him in a lie. He is seven years my senior and is a member of our family who dislikes him. Should I hold that against him?

I know he would do anything to make me happy. He is very generous. But at times I think I will give him up because my people do not like him. I know I will never find another who is as truthful and loyal as he is and that I will miss him more than words can tell. I also know I will never find another who loves me as he does. He never tells me I can't do a thing, but says, "Please don't do that. Why do you want to trouble me?"

Shall I listen to others and quit him? He has asked me to marry him and said he could give me a nice home. He is fond of children and so am I. If I give him up I am losing the best friend I have in the world. I know that I will be responsible for breaking his heart. Shall I be cruel and heartless, knowing that I am casting a gloom over the life of the one who loves me so? BLUE EYES.

You must let your heart decide your problem. Do not marry the man unless you are sure you love him. The disappointment might break his heart for a time, but it would mend and he would be happy in the end. Some women who would return his affections. If you are twenty or over rely upon your own judgment, weighing carefully the objections offered by members of your family. After all you are the one to be satisfied if married and your family should not choose your husband.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls, both of us Americans. We grew up in the same town, from neighboring towns who were born in America but their parents are of foreign nationality.

Do you consider it wrong for us to go with these young men? They are well educated and well thought of. CHUMS.
Unless you are Indians you cannot claim to be pure Americans. All of us, except the Indians, can look back to foreign-born ancestors, and most of us do not have to look back far. It is false pride to think you are better than the young men you mention. Look to their characters rather than to the country in which their parents were born.

"Dan O. Who Loves His Wife": It is not pleasant to be nagged all the time you are at home, but be comforted with the thought that your wife's irritability is temporary.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Do you think it would be all right for one girl to go to a show at night with two boys? DR. THOMPSON.
It would be all right for her to go with two boys if she is old enough to go to a show at night. Two boys are not a problem.

DEADLY CARBON MONOXIDE GAS
Carbon monoxide gas is colorless, odorless and tasteless (though some individuals detect it). It gains its name from the fact that it causes a gaslike odor in the nostrils and as dead as a poison as prussic acid, yet people deal with this gas in daily life in the most careless manner.

Whenever any fuel—coal, wood, kerosene, charcoal, gas, gasoline, alcohol—is burned without a free supply of fresh air or a good draft or thorough ventilation in the room, carbon monoxide gas is likely to form, and this accounts for the frequent fatalities in houses where superstitious keeps a lamp burning all night and ignorance keeps the windows all tightly closed.

Every one who runs an automobile now knows or ought to know the great danger from carbon monoxide gas in the exhaust of a gasoline engine in a small closed or poorly ventilated garage. Hundreds of sudden deaths have been produced by carbon monoxide gas from gasoline engines—and now and then innocent people are still making a post-mortem guess of "heart disease" in such cases.

Carbon monoxide gas enters into the formula of illuminating gas, and constitutes about one-third of water gas. A trifling leak in gas pipes or what is still more common, a leak in a flexible gas-hose, is a serious danger to the occupants of the room to the danger of death. A flexible gas-hose should never be used, but only rigid iron pipe connections.

A tramp seeks the warmth of a chimney pipe near a brick kiln and is found dead—carbon monoxide poisoning. A lonely widow keeps her kerosene lamp burning all night in a tightly closed bedroom, and is found dead—carbon monoxide poisoning. A mixed-up woman is found quickly the pot where some dynamite has just been exploded—and falls in his trucks from carbon monoxide poisoning. The smoke and gases from a fire struck are blown by a change of wind down a skylight and into the rear of a clothing factory—and a dozen or more men and women in that end of the factory are seriously gassed. A hall-room boarder takes his bath in the fifth warmth of a portable gas stove without flue connections—an is found unconscious in the tub. Any heater except electric which has no direct connection with

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart, the well known authoress, has just been elected to membership in the National executive committee of the National Security League. She is the third woman to sit in that body. The only other woman at the present time is Miss Maude Wetmore of New York city, who was head of the National League for Women's Service during the war and is now active in the women's section of the National Civic Federation.

Mrs. Rinehart has been interested in the National Security League's Americanism and anti-bolshevism efforts for some time. In a recent contribution to the league's educational propaganda, she said: "Radicalism in its present form is simply an attempt to impose the will of a militant minority on an unsuspecting majority."

SUFFRAGE NEWS
The Vermont legislature voted last week to accept the woman suffrage amendment, according to sentiment about the state house. Governor Percival Clement, however, is emphatically opposed to an extra session on any pretext and has not changed his mind, since he replied negatively several weeks ago to the resolution of the republican state committee asking him to call one.

Nebraska women would be given full voting privilege under a constitutional amendment passed by the state constitutional convention in 1912, but it has not yet been adopted. The amendment is prohibited from voting for officers provided for by the constitution. The suffrage amendment, with other proposed constitutional changes adopted by the convention will be submitted to the voters.

The Diary of an Engaged Girl

THE HEROINE FINDS HERSELF IN AN AFFECTIONATE MOOD
I have developed a terrible crush on Jack within the last 24 hours, and I believe it is because I am one-third climbing vine lately. That is hard to realize, and yet I am clever enough to know my own shortcomings. This is one of them.

When I returned home today I walked up Fifth avenue, and at Forty-second street I decided to take a bus. There was an awful jam, and just as I had one foot on the lower step of one of them I was pushed by the firm female in front and thrown right into the arms of a man back of me.

I gave a little scream, and found myself suddenly squeezed by the unknown one from behind, and turned to give him a piece of my mind, when he fairly hugged me, then said laughingly in my ear, "It's all right, Lindsey, it's Jack!"

You see, he had caught sight of me as I was swinging up the avenue, and just as I got up to the bus he caught up with me. He was awfully nice and just as I had one foot on the lower step of one of them I was pushed by the firm female in front and thrown right into the arms of a man back of me.

We had been sort of distant since our "words," but I was sure that I was not a barrier, I'll say. Why, as I remember, I actually hugged him when I found out who he was, and Jack got awfully red and pleased. Men are very easy to satisfy, I think. It was such a beautiful sunset that we got on the bus and then got out and walked round a bit. The trees looked so green and fresh, and my imagination was on fire for the reason or other. We forgot all about time and things, and just sat and held hands, until I realized that I

If last year's black straw hats are given a coat of black enamel, they will have the gloss that the present day fashion demands. Old black ribbons may also be treated in the same way. The top of an apron should be put in a warm place two or three hours before using, but must be kept away from an open blaze. Black tone buttons may be given a satin finish in the same manner.

To remove paint from windows and mirrors—Use a safety razor blade. Paint and varnish can be cut off windows in a minute and without leaving a scratch.

Grandma's Cookies—One pint lard, one pint black molasses, two pints brown sugar, one pint black coffee, two heaping teaspoons soda, one teaspoon ginger.
Cream lard and sugar together. Add molasses and coffee to which the two teaspoons of soda have been added. Sift teaspoon ginger and flour enough to make a soft dough. This makes 14 dozen of the cookies.
Nut Cookies—Two eggs, one cup brown sugar, one cup chopped nut meats, six tablespoons flour, pinch salt.
Beat egg yolk until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar, nut meats, whites of eggs beaten until stiff and flour mixed with salt. Drop from tip of spoon on buttered sheets and bake in a moderate oven.

General Wood was once assigned by the War Department to entertain one of several German officers visiting this country. The two men were automobiling one day along the Connecticut coast. Wood lost his way, stopped his machine and took out his road map. He was trying to find the quickest route to a town to which he and the German friend were making their way.

"If you will go ahead a mile, General," said the German, "I will find a good road to the right that will take us there."

The German had never been in the United States but had never visited that part of the country.

"How the devil do you know so much about our roads?" asked the American.

"Oh, you know, General," the visitor replied, "this is my section of the American Coast."

had a full-fledged attack of spring fever, slightly delayed. Most of us are afflicted with it, and so completely overwhelming.

How I did want to be crushed in Jack's arms only this little while! I never know, for of course maidenly modesty, that pesky jade, will never permit a nice girl to openly acknowledge such yearnings. No indeed! A really nice girl allows her fancy but few intimacies, according to the experienced ones like mother, and even a full-fledged widow (the clever ones) are more submissive than enthusiastic in their reception of their husband's attentions. Myself I cannot get all these cut and dried rules about matrimony, and I feel sure that I shall never do or act as I have been told.

Why can't a girl just be natural? Give the man she loves kiss for kiss, and let him know that there is no more wonderful place than this side of paradise than his arms. Balzac's women all did, and they are extremely popular with the young. There is certainly something wrong with our modern training. And I think there are many things outside of cooking and the graces that a girl should learn before her twentieth birthday.

Jack feels the same way about this as I do, I know, for he did kiss me in that possessive way of his till my head spun, and I felt that he was in a daze. Charming, and the greatest lover of the age, without doubt.

Long, long after the sun had sunk, and the first chilled breezes of the evening warned us that it was growing late, we came back to realities and went home to dinner. But now I am wishing that we were sitting on that dear, discreet bench, all over again. I fear that I am in love. (To be continued.)

SHE AND HE

(Synopsis of preceding chapters: Stacey Goodkin swoops down on the quiet town of Clamshell-on-the-Shore, clothed in an air of mystery. Beside a handsome suit of gherkin cloth. She registers at the hotel as Mariane de Venezuela, and Uriah Sleek, the village snooper, the know-it-all-or-nothing, sees that while registering at Mariane, et, her initials on her muff and suitcase are S. G., and judges rightly, with an anger beside his nose that, the Mariane, etc., is all bunk, and soon the word goes round that a great city heiress is spending time and money incognito in their dead little town, far from the gadding crowd, with its social swirls and twirls. At the same hour, Gwennie Quirkdard registers at the same hotel under the assumed name of Hamilton Van Zoodle. Again does Uriah Sleek, the village snooper, see that H. V. Z. are not the initials on his scarf-pin and trunk, which are G. Q. Again does he guess rightly that the two names are both different and that one is wrong. And for the second time the word goes round that a count or duke or sumple, is staying at the hotel under the alias of Hamilton Van Zoodle, and Stacey Goodkin, learns that he has fled by hydroplane from his little enclaved kingdom of Patahordia to escape the hated marriage with the brazen and rather elderly Princess Gussie of Gluffiz. The great heiress and the grand duke met and become great friends. Another guest at the hotel, Mariane, is showing signs of vitriolic love for Mariane and darts of jealousy shoot from his eyes to the duke, and in the meantime falls flat for the alleged duke and is already planning a one-thousand foot downfall for Mariane. The hotel guests await exciting developments in their placid young and old lives breathlessly.)

CLAIMED EXEMPTION, NOW BARRED FROM CITIZENSHIP

Appleton.—Henry Stussy, Appleton, a native of Switzerland, and forever barred from becoming a citizen of the United States because he claimed exemption from the draft on the ground that he was not a citizen. An order barring him from citizenship was signed by Judge Edgar V. Werner of the circuit court on petition of George N. Daniels, naturalization examiner. Stussy had obtained his "first papers," but surrendered them to the draft board when his number was called. Daniels immediately took steps to prevent him from ever obtaining the papers again.

If you want a house design for a small lot upon which you need to build quite close to the street, this original plan (shown in the illustration) may be exactly what you desire.

There is nothing "gingerbready" about this design. It is plain, simple, yet dignified and substantial-looking.

Living and dining rooms are unusually large.

The rear of the built-in buffet occupies less room than you may suppose, allowing space for a large, well-lighted pantry between kitchen and dining room.

Study this house-plan. It may be the very design for the house you will call: "My new home."

Art Craft Roof--

Durable, Beautiful, Economical

Art-Craft Roofs are lasting, weather-defying roofs.

Art-Craft Roofs are roll roofs with a natural green or red slate surface. On this slate surface is an attractive tile design.

No use to tear off old shingles when ART CRAFT will go on right over them and make the best roof you can put on today—and do it for less money.

Art-Craft over the old shingles makes a warm roof and a cool roof. It doesn't conduct either heat or cold. It makes a double roof—one that lasts, one that cuts coal bills, one that makes more comfortable sleeping rooms in summer.

Let us give you an estimate on an Art-Craft Roof for your house.

Easter in the Churches

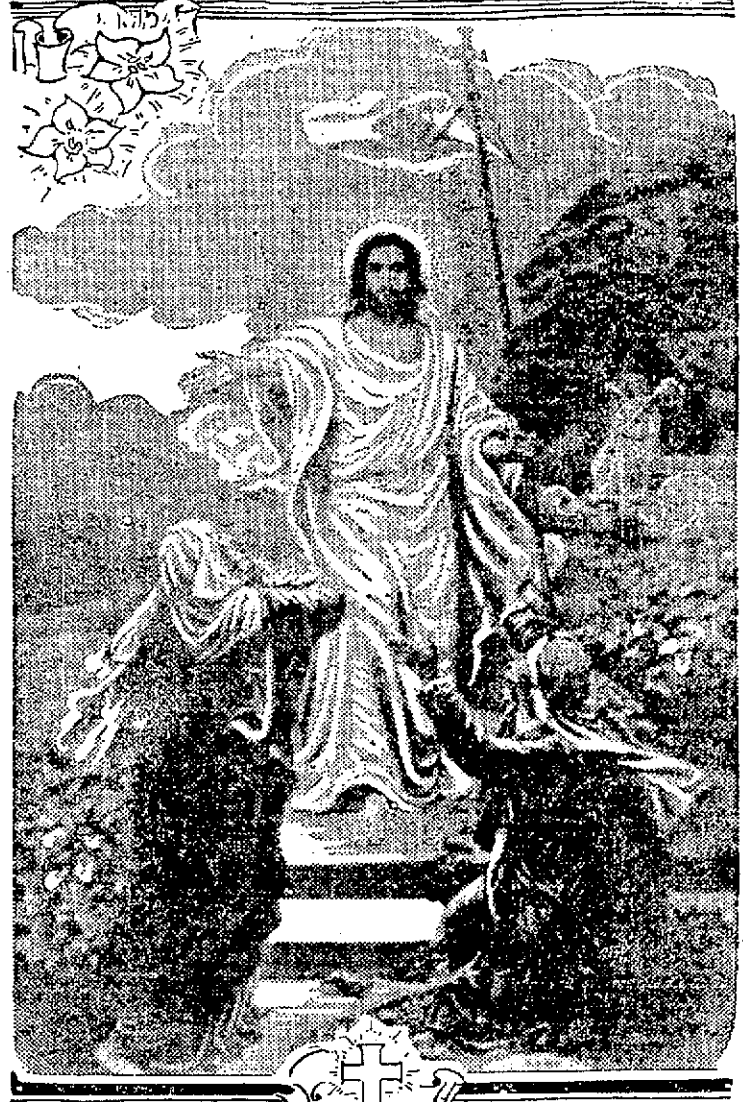

Old Man Weather early this morning held forth no ideal promises for the big parade tomorrow. In contrast the forecast for Wisconsin was a fair Sunday, but with Easter to entertain increased cloudiness and probably snow. Spring suits and blooming upper extremity creations for nuptial may be in the air. Medicine Hat's statement indicates necessity of warm clothing as it reports "not much change in temperature." It was but half a point above freezing throughout the morning. Regardless of its promised chilliness, Easter will still bear its customary significance to Janesville and vicinity. Catholic, Protestant and Jew alike will celebrate in fitting ceremony the anniversary of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Churches have prepared special and elaborate programs for the day. For the newcomer as well as for the old resident, the Gazette today announces the programs and services for Easter.

From a commercial aspect, the ending of Lent had had its ups and downs for the merchant. The week, breaking bright and warm, witnessed a heavy turnover for the first three days. Buyers in unprecendented numbers thronged the stores and shops. Prices were no object, be it a pair of shoes, pumps or oxfords, waist or shirt, millinery, hat or cap. The latter part of the week, coming in with a chilly blast of late November, following the prolonged winter, suddenly terminated the mad buying and merchants yesterday prayed for clear skies and a rising mercury today. They had granted their wish for the skies, but the thermometer failed to voyage forth from the vicinity of the freezing point.

Nevertheless the day was a heavy one for the merchant. Throngs of buyers were in the downtown district in the early morning hours and this afternoon the number had been more than tripled. All in all it appeared that the mad rush for Easter finery was in but a slight way stopped by the cool day.

To the Voters of the FIFTH WARD

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT—Written and publication authorized by J. J. Dulin and to be paid for by him at the rate of 75c per inch.

I am a candidate for re-election as Alderman at next Tuesday's election. I have served as Alderman of the Fifth for fourteen years. I have always had the best interests of the Taxpayers at heart. In an issue of the Gazette a few nights ago, my opponent stated that the Fifth ward money was spent in other wards. Several years before the Aldermanic form of Government was returned to power, the Commission did away with Ward funds. This system was retained by the Council in order that the condition complained of might readjust itself.

It seems absurd to me that when there is an effort to improve the principal street in the Fifth that my opponent in one paragraph complains of a system that I had no part in, in fact was opposed to, and in the next paragraph sneeringly refers to the proposed parking of four blocks of Center Avenue as a flower garden. For the information of those who do not know, the City Planning Commission, of which I am not a member, is a separate body from the Council, with power to determine the selection of parks and to report to the Council for their approval. This was done and the Council unanimously passed the resolution.

Many absurd statements were made regarding this improvement—That the curb would be set back several feet at the expense of the property owners, that they would have to plant flowers and care for them, and that a fabulous price would be charged for the pavement. The facts are that if the improvement is made, the park becomes City property and is cared for by the City and kept up by the City. The cost to the property cannot exceed $3.00 per square yard, with credit for previous assessments. Do not be misled by any such foolish talk as has been going around regarding this improvement.

I am asking the support of the Voters of the Fifth and if I am elected will faithfully perform the duties of the office, and safeguard the interests of the Taxpayers of the Fifth. Thanking my friends for past favors and soliciting a continuation of same, I am

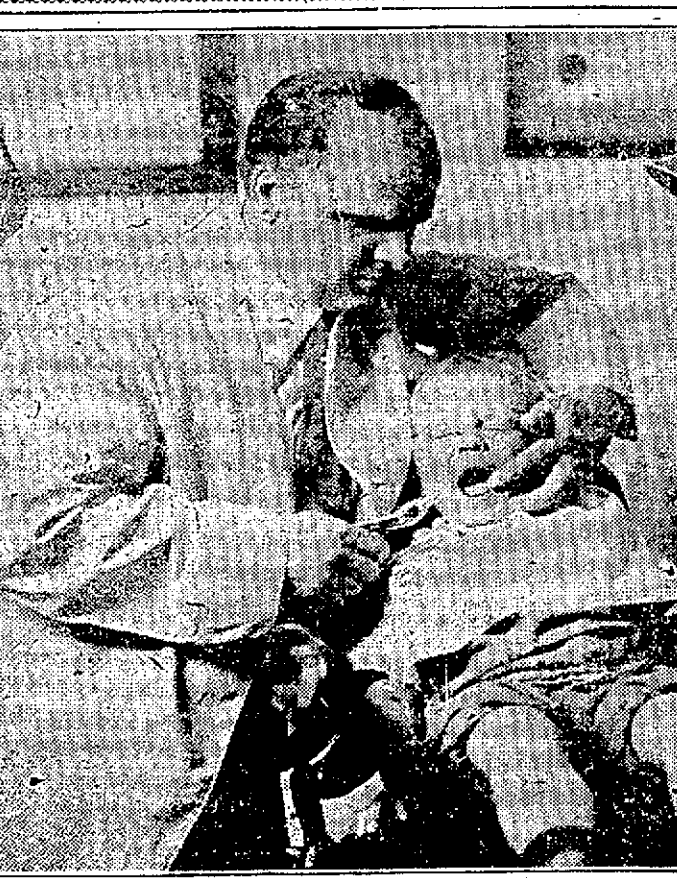

Very truly and sincerely yours,

HOOVER SPILLED THE PARTY BEANS

Sadness Reigns in Democratic Circles and Republicans Have New Contest.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1920, by Janesville Gazette.)

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(Homer Cummings, faithful Wilson man, ardent democrat, and level-headed chairman of the national committee of the republican party, the best posted man in the political family of President Wilson. His remarks to a group of correspondents here, the day after the republican convention, have in mind for the San Francisco convention. His discourse unfolds the strategy of his party.

"It is a sad thing," said Mr. Cummings, "to see an essential democrat trying to liberalize a stand-pat party."

reference was to Herbert Hoover in answer to a question as to what Mr. Cummings thought of the former food commissioner's last letter about the republican primaries and his willingness to run on a liberal republican platform.

Hoover was admitted. There is no disguising the fact that there has existed a warm admiration for Mr. Hoover in democratic circles. His administration has been publicly criticized, but privately it has not altered the real belief of several democratic leaders that Herbert Hoover is going to be the next president of the United States either on the republican or democratic or possibly upon an independent ticket. They will not admit this—but they think it.

Mr. Hoover's effort to liberalize the republican party is regarded by Mr. Cummings as being a last ditch effort to save the republican party from the thought, for the democrats don't want to see the republican party in Chicago adopt a liberal platform and nominate Mr. Hoover. They fear he would sweep the country, which only hope is that the republican convention will fail to heed the clamor for Hoover and nominate somebody else.

Democrats Stand Pat on Wilson. Believing naturally that the democratic party is the true liberal party, Mr. Cummings equally says Hoover is on the wrong side of the fence in trying to bring about reform in the republican yard. They think the specifications he gave concerning a middle-of-the-road program neither extremely reactionary nor extremely radical will be found in the democratic platform. Obviously, Mr. Hoover's stand on the treaty differs from that of President Wilson, and unless something happens to take the treaty out of the campaign, Mr. Hoover was closing the door against a democratic nomination.

For in the same conference of the correspondents, Mr. Cummings predicted that the San Francisco convention would uphold the position of President Wilson on all international domestic policy.

Such a platform Herbert Hoover could never be drafted to run because he differs with the Wilson administration on many policies.

A huge joke on Democrats. Nevertheless, the democrats are going to make good use of Hoover's popularity and the doctrine he preaches. They are going to challenge the republican party to do what Hoover has asked them to do. Their strategy will be to hold up Hoover as the man who tried to reform the republican party but failed—for they are sure the republicans will not conform to the Hoover specifications. The democrats will continue to say Mr. Hoover is really "an essential democrat" and that regardless of many of its flaws he will find more liberalism in the democratic than the republican party.

It would be a crude joke if the republicans did nominate Mr. Hoover. But the democrats are willing to take the chance in extolling the former food administrator, because they are confident that Mr. Hoover will be tagged down at Chicago. It is to their interest, therefore, to keep on friendly terms with Hoover for future campaign use, whether as a candidate or proponent of liberalism. Just as the democratic republicans of the progressive party were so friendly to the democrats in 1912, as the democrats think they will see the strategy of the progressives carried up the hill at Chicago this year and down again into the arms of the democrats.

Meanwhile, Hoover republicans haven't lost heart and are rather pleased that the Hoover announcement has not drawn down the approval of republicans generally, even though it has been scorned by boomers of other republican candidates whose interest in Hoover is naturally discounted. The supporters of McAdoo and Palmer feel somewhat relieved over Mr. Hoover's announcement, and it would not be surprising to see friends of McAdoo and Palmer in California entering the republican primaries not only to help defeat William Johnson because of his stand on the peace treaty, but to keep Hoover out of the democratic primaries and label him definitely as a republican. That is the strategy of the moment, and it would seem to point to a victory for Hoover in California—a circumstance that might make the controlling leaders of the republican national convention reconsider their earlier dislike for the former Hoover.

FARMER REGISTERS KICK ON CONDITION OF IMPORTANT ROAD

Farmers along rural route No. 5 in the town of Janesville, the highway from the Four Mile bridge north along the right bank, up-stream, are considerably incensed over the condition of this road and their inability to have daily delivery of mail.

According to J. L. Kanner, who lives on the route no mail was available Thursday because of the impossibility of passage of the road by their carrier, Nels Katrold.

"We hauled him out of a mud hole one day," said Mr. Kanner. "There is absolutely no reason for the condition of the road. We have repeatedly requested our town chairman, Will Shoemaker, to put the road in passable condition but nothing has been done."

"Unless this road is repaired at once there will be no end of trouble this summer when the new highway to Edgerton is finished here. The road along the river will then be the main highway out of Janesville. It is in no condition now for passage. It certainly will not be this summer unless something is done and done right away."

COUNTRY CLUB AT EVANSVILLE AWARDS PRIZES FOR WINTER

[By Gazette Correspondent.]
Evansville, April 3.—The Country club met last night with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hyne, for the last regular meeting this year. A four-course dinner was served, and cards were played. Prizes for the past winter's card games were awarded as follows:

Women's first, Mrs. Frank Hyne, out glass jelly dish; men's first, Seymour Purrington, silver lead pencil; women's second first prize, Mrs. Carl Brunell, china salad dish; men's second first prize, Frank Hyne, deck of cards in leather case; consolation prize, Mrs. Frank Hyne, potted rose in bloom; Frank Tupper, deck of fortune telling cards.

Mrs. Frank Hyne won 60 card games during the club meetings this winter. A club poem composed and read by Mrs. Seymour Purrington, was greatly enjoyed by all.

The old officers were reelected for next winter. They are Mrs. Frank Hyne, president; Chris Jorgensen, vice president; Mrs. Ace Allen, secretary.

Their annual picnic this year was planned by the men. It will be held in June, and will consist partly of a trip to the Delta.

BILLY WHISKER

As Billy trotted down the side street, away from the circus, the cyclone still raged, and blew loose boards and papers in every direction.

but he kept on until he found himself out of the town and on the high road.

"Why, how good it does seem to get away from the smelly old circus and be free again. Who cares for the wind and weather when one is free? This rain will wash the black stuff off my coat that circus fellows put on; and now I think of it, I'll just walk up to that board fence and butt off this old horn that they glued to my head; that will be the end of the Wild Goat from Guinea."

Suiting the action to the words, he walked up to the fence and hooked the curved part of the horn over the rail, pulled back, and the horn came off easily without pulling out any hair, as the rain had softened the glue. As it fell inside the fence, Billy picked up his heels, whiskered, turned, and started down the road at a fast trot. As he ran, he made up his mind he would find Nanny once more, even if he had to spend the rest of his life looking for her. You know from past experience that if Billy made up his mind to do a thing, that he did it for Billy's strong points were, bravery, perseverance and stick-to-itiveness. These are good qualities for boys and girls to have as well as goats. It was a good thing that Billy had these qualities, or he never would have found Nanny again. For one whole month he hunted for her, going up one road and down another, being stoned by boys and chased by men as he tried to steal a meal out of their gardens. Sometimes he wandered into a yard to get something to eat, and they set the dogs on him, but this they always wished they had not done, for he invariably turned and ripped the dogs open with his long horns.

In this way he traveled, sleeping by the wayside in all kinds of weather, until even he was beginning to get discouraged. When one day he happened on a road that looked familiar to him, and the further he traveled the more familiar it became, until he came to a bridge with a red house beside it. Then he knew where he was, for he recognized the house and the scenery around as the place where the bridge had broken down when the elephant had attempted to cross it. His joy knew no bounds, for now all he had to do to get to Nanny was to follow this road and then take another to the other side of town which would lead him to his little wife Nanny. (Billy sees Nanny again in Monday's story.)

A large number of our citizens urged me to be a candidate for School Commissioner-at-Large.

I am sure they did this only because they thought it would be for the public good. Not one of them had any personal ambition or selfish purpose in asking me to stand for this office. The reasons they suggested persuaded me that it was my duty to become a candidate. Surely I am not simply seeking political office or pre-of service and if elected, I shall give to the performance of the duties of this office my best efforts and attention.
